

Rhetoric Literature – Year 2
Paradise Lost* - John Milton
Due Co-op #13

Watch (listen) to the following video before you read the poem. There is no video – only audio. (Biographical information and a synopsis of the entire poem.)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0IUpe1Yblt8>

Also, please use this website to help you navigate the plot and the characters. You will mainly use the first section called Paradise Lost – the poem: Plot and Character sections.

You may enjoy the other sections as well. If you are interested in knowing more about Milton, the Contexts section has lots of info.

There is also a plot summary of each book of PL at the end of Week 25 in the teacher notes. You could pull these and keep them with you as you read.

YouTube has several versions of this epic as an audiobook. I'm sure you can also find it on audiobooks.com. I highly recommend listening as you read. It will make a lot more sense.

Hopefully, having the synopsis in both audio form and on this website, you can know what you are looking for as you approach each book. Be smart about spreading out your reading over the next three weeks. I suggest trying to read 4 books each week. You do not want to get behind and save it all to the end.

Read Paradise Lost – just like The Iliad, The Odyssey, The Aeneid, and The Inferno, do not get discouraged. Use tools to help you understand. Our goal is exposure and understanding the plot. In class, we will try to put all the pieces together.

Fill out the chart on The Epic.
