*Many of the abridged classics can be found from different authors. If you already own one of these abridged books by a different author, it is fine to use what you have.

Important: Students should NOT pre-read the assigned literature books over the summer or more than two weeks prior to the time they're assigned. While it is wonderful to have eager readers and wonderful stories, it is important that the books are read and understood within the proper historical context. Eager readers may enjoy the books on the TOG alternate reading list.
