

Tapestry of Grace Year 2

Rhetoric Literature List

Our spine textbook for the year will be Norton Anthology of English Literature Vol. 1. I really tried to avoid it, but it is the best/cheapest way to get many of the things on our list. You can find them used fairly reasonably. Selections will be indicated by Norton.

Some assignments I will have printed copies for you – indicated as Printed.

The rest of the selections will be individual books. Please try to get the translation listed if possible. It will make the reading and discussion more pleasurable. Not all translations are equal.

Co-op #10	Macbeth	Shakespeare Choose your own
Co-op #11	Pilgrim's Progress (This book is read in every level. We are suggesting that families read this aloud together in whichever level suits your family or listen to it as an audiobook.)	Bunyan
Co-op #12	Metaphysical Poets Donne, Herbert, Marvell, Johnson, Herrick, Suckling, Lovelace King James Bible	Norton
Co-op #13	Paradise Lost (This is an extensive but important work. I haven't decided if we will do excerpts or read the whole thing. The full work is in Norton , however, it is over 100 pages of tiny print. You may choose to use Norton or buy an individual book to make for easier reading)	Milton
Co-op #14	"Modest Proposal" The Rape of the Locke	Swift Pope Both in Norton
Co-op #15	Gulliver's Travels (Again, this work is in Norton's , but would be hard to read for 150 pages of tiny print. I recommend getting an individual book. Audio book is also a great option for this work.)	Swift
Co-op #16	Sense and Sensibility	Austen Choose your own

Summer Reading Ideas:

Shakespeare's Romeo & Juliet and/or Julius Caesar

Tales of the Arabian Nights (this is a fun audio)

Ivanhoe by Sir Walter Scott (on of the first historical fiction novels –set in Medieval times)

The Scottish Chiefs by Jane Porter (William Wallace & Robert the Bruce)

Any of the Dialectic list/Alternative list or Upper Grammar books – they are all great!!
